Orang Asli Empowerment Project

ENHANCING SUSTAINABLE FARMING VIA COMPOSTER MACHINE

Mr Jabar, 60, an Orang Asli villager, father of 5, from Kampung Bugis, Pahang, is a rubber tapper who also runs a farm for consumption and additional income generation. Our team had visited him in Sep 22 to assess his situation and explore options to empower him and expand his farming income. Mr Jabar had been using conventional methods to produce organic waste, which he then sells back to his fellow Orang Asli villagers to generate income and to help his fellow villagers with their farming. However, this method is time-consuming. On 23 Feb 2023, GHCA provided him with a composter machine, which is hoped to increase the efficiency of his fertiliser production process by reducing the time and labour required. This will increase his productivity and profitability level, and he will also be able to convert his organic waste into high-quality fertiliser to improve soil fertility and crop yields for his and his villagers' farms.
